

Large Majority Favor New Hospital.

Olds Also Pass Bylaw by Good Majority.

Only three votes were cast against the bylaw authorizing the town to enter into an agreement with the two municipalities to erect and equip a new hospital at Didsbury.

The vote was very small, only 70 electors registering their vote. At the election held last fall authorizing the borrowing of $30,000 to finance the project, 124 votes were cast, 105 being in favor and 19 against.

On the same day a vote was taken at Olds on a similar agreement and was carried by a good majority. The vote was 148 in favor and 36 against.

With the carrying of these bylaws both Didsbury and Olds are now in a position to try and raise finances to supply the districts with the much needed hospital accommodation.

More Rain Improves Crop Prospects.

With 1½ inches of rain falling Monday and Tuesday the total rainfall during June has been brought up to 4½ inch and the total rainfall for the spring season up to 6.75 ins. according to the rain gauges at the local elevators.

With this amount of moisture penetrated deeply into the subsoil a good crop will be assured if we can get a few showers during the month of July.

The grasshopper menace east of town has been held in check during the cool wet weather but farmers are warned that with hot weather the headlands should be watched and if in evidence poison distributed to keep them in check. Farmers who have already distributed poison bait claim they are getting very good control.

Garland Meeting.

On Wednesday, June 7th, a meeting was held in the Legion Hall under the auspices of the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation. A fair-sized audience heard Mr. E. J. Garland discuss the origin and purposes of the C.C.F.

For nearly two hours Mr. Garland spoke of the constructive policies of the C.C.F.; he warned his audience against being deceived by the appeal of the old Conservative remnants to walk into the den of reaction, so carefully disguised under the misleading term "Unity." The hopeless and almost extinct Conservative Party of this province were trying to hoodwink the people into giving them an undeserved blood transfusion.

Mr. Garland traced the origin and growth of the C.C.F. Party, pointing out its similarity to the Social-Democratic movement in Sweden and the Labor-Farm Government in New Zealand. "The comparative ease with which the labor government of New Zealand had in four years time provided for the farmer and worker showed that the same thing was even more possible in Canada. This country's resources are far greater than New Zealand's; we depend less on the foreign market; we have much better industrial plants; and with a government devoted to a democratically planned economy could solve our economic problems more economically than in New Zealand."

"In Canada in January of this year, the number of persons dependent on direct relief numbered over 900,000; in New Zealand there were on relief some 483. In New Zealand, continued the speaker, the old line parties formed a unity movement prior to the elections of 1935. They had been in power for some time and conditions of that domination had steadily become worse. There had been annual deficits for some years, as at Ottawa this year. The new Labor-Farm Government has had the following results: the budget has been balanced every year since 1935; this year the surplus was $3,000,000, which is equivalent to $18,000,000 in Canada on the basis of population ratio."

"In Canada our foreign trade has fluctuated very badly during the last several years; they have declined 15 per cent in respect to last year. Since the Labor-Farm Government of New Zealand has been in power, there has been an increase in trade of 52 per cent. In New Zealand cost of living has increased by 11 per cent, but farm and workers' incomes have increased by more than 40 per cent."

Under the Social Security Act now in operation in New Zealand there is complete socialization of health service,

WEDDINGS

GRUNAU—FRANKLIN

The home of Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Franklin was the scene of a very charming lawn wedding on Thursday, June 8th at 3 p.m., when about 70 guests gathered to witness the wedding of their second daughter, Clara Videlle, to Mr. Erhart Kurt Grunau, of Harmattan.

The lawn was decorated for the occasion with a colorful bridal arch of flowers against a background of foliage. The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a charming gown of Rouen Blue with accordion-pleated skirt and neckline, finished with cameo clips. Her veil was coronet fashion and she carried a bouquet of white carnations.

Miss Cora Foat, bridesmaid, was gowned in a matching dress of Vintage Rose shade and also carried carnations.

The bridal party was preceded by a dainty little flower-girl, Neva Carlson, niece of the bride.

The groom was supported by the bride's brother, Mr. Orrie Franklin.

Previous to the ceremony, which was conducted by Rev. Otto H. Rollis, of Bowden, assisted by Rev. J. R. Geeson, Didsbury, Miss Floris Jones, of Lacombe, sang "I Love You Truly," accompanied on the piano by Mrs. D. A. Edwards, who also played the Wedding March, and Mr. Orrie Franklin with violin obligato.

During the signing of the register, Miss Lois Edwards sang "O Perfect Love."

The happy couple left on a short honeymoon for Calgary, the bride's going-away ensemble being navy blue with French fuschia accessories.

On their return they will live on the groom's farm near Harmattan.

This occasion also marked the 39th wedding anniversary of the bride's parents, who were married at Summerfield, Kansas, June 8, 1900.

ces, everyone being entitled to medical service. The Act contains special provisions for veterans, orphans, widows and invalids. Old-age pensions are $30.00 per month and are paid at the age of 60.

Following the meeting a local C.C.F. study group was organized. Anyone interested is asked to get in touch with Mr. O. J. Kirk, Didsbury. A temporary provisional council was also appointed to make arrangements for calling a C.C.F. convention for the Didsbury riding.

Obituary.

ROBERT McEWEN

Robert McEwen, one of the older settlers of the Waterloo district, southwest of Didsbury, passed away at his home on Wednesday, June 7, at the age of 82 years.

Born in the Township of Elderslie, Bruce County, Ontario, in 1857, he was married to Emily M. Vanslyke. After farming for several in Elderslie and Arran, they came to Alberta in 1902. He took up a homestead in the Waterloo district and continuously up to the time of his death lived on the farm he had developed. He was a member of the M.B.C. Church and, until age and health prevented, took an active part in church work. Although he had been retired for a number of years, he was well known and highly respected by the older settlers.

Predeceased by his wife two years ago, the late Mr. McEwen is survived by two sons, Norman at Delia, Alberta, and David J. at home; three daughters, Louise, teacher at Waterloo, Mildred at home, and Anne, also five grandchildren and one brother, John, of Medicine Hat.

Funeral services were held at the M.B.C. Church, Didsbury, on Saturday, June 10th, Rev. Oscar Snyder conducting the service, assisted by Rev. V. K. Snyder. Interment took place at the Waterloo cemetery.

Funeral arrangements were in charge of the Durrer Funeral Home.

Mrs. ARTHUR KERSHAW

Mrs. Arthur Kershaw, who was mother of the largest family in the district and one of the earliest settlers in the neighborhood, passed away at her home on June 7th after a lingering illness of ten years, at the age of 64 years, 4 months and 24 days.

Maria Taylor was born at Heywood, Lancashire, England, on January 13th, 1874, and was married to Arthur Kershaw on May 23rd 1894. She made her home in Heywood for thirteen years, when the family came to Canada in 1907 and lived in the Westerdale district for seven years. In 1914 she moved to her home 5 miles northwest of Didsbury. Mrs. Kershaw leaves her husband and nine children living, and was predeceased by seven children who died in infancy: Ben and George, of Westerdale, John, Robert, Arthur and Lloyd, of Didsbury; Marie, at home, Mrs. George Jackson, of Westerdale, Mrs. Emil Krebs, of Didsbury and five grandchildren. Also a sister in England.

The funeral service was held at Durrers' Funeral Chapel on Friday, Rev. J. R. Geeson conducting the service, and the interment was at the Didsbury Cemetery. The pallbearers were the six sons.

Race Meet Postponed Until Monday.

The Didsbury Race Meet was postponed on Wednesday on account of the heavy rains earlier this week and will be held on Monday next with the races starting at 1.30 p.m.

There are a number of horses already here and the event was placed on Monday so as not to interfere with other race meets scheduled in other parts of the province.

The postponement is not likely to interfere any of the entries and there is assurance of a good field of horses when the races are called.

The softball tournament will also be carried out as scheduled with ten or twelve teams competing.

The VanDusen Midway is staying in the district and will be here with a full outfit of rides, side shows and other attractions both in the afternoon and evening.

"Youth Marches On"

"Youth Marches On," a film in the interests of the youth not only of Canada but the world over, will be presented at the Opera House on June 23 and 24.

Here is a film that is different. It was produced by young Canadians who began with $175, then turned out their pockets and then, with every cent counting, converted prized possessions into extra feet of film. They were their own actors, directors, and composers and the film portrays their actual experiences. Dick Bird, a cameraman who gave his services and equipment, was the only one with professional training.

"Youth Marches On" was made for the young in heart, whatever their age, and is presented as evidence of a new spirit, perhaps a new hope. Amid the turmoil of the modern world, youth marches on, fit, determined and free.

Excitement Forty Years Ago

Ontario Paper Records Road Mishaps In Horse And Buggy Days

The St. Marys Journal-Argus says nowadays we are shocked by the highway accident record and look back to the good old horse and buggy days when life was safe and the pedestrians got a break. It was therefore a surprise to us the other day to observe in an old Journal-Argus file of forty years ago no less than three local items on the same page calling attention to road mishaps. One item told of Billy Diamond, former St. Marys man, bringing action against the Ingersoll Waterworks Co. for injuries sustained by being thrown from his buggy in that town. Another driver, a resident of Woodham, turned his young mare too swiftly onto Queen street and was happy in getting off with a broken shaft. Again a young man was thrown from a buggy on Water street and landed on the road on his face. He was taken to the Ontario House and "comforted by the means within reach." "All this excitement in 1898!"

Date Is Moveable

Time Man Entered America May Be Placed Farther Back

Anthropologists have found evidence that a prehistoric "old timer"—predating even the 10,000-year-old Folsom man—may have roamed the Rio Grande Valley of New Mexico, when camels and elephants roamed the Western plains.

Frank Hibben, University of New Mexico anthropologist, gave official credence to such probability as a result of discovery of a finely finished dart point in a Sandia Mountains cave just east of Albuquerque.

"There can be no doubt of the importance of this find," Dr. Hibben said, "nor of the possibility that we may have to move the date of man's entry into America back once more."

The dart was found some weeks ago by archaeological students in a cave sealed by stalagmitic material which Dr. Hibben said precluded any possibility of deposit since the pleistocene age. Unofficially it was estimated to have been made somewhere between 10,000 and 25,000 years ago.

Forming Czech Legion

Thousands of Czechs in France already have registered for a Czech Legion which is prepared to offer its services to France and to fight for the re-establishment of a homeland. There are at least 20,000 former soldiers among the Czechs in France, and they are confident of forming from their ranks at least one infantry division of 12,000 well-trained men.

Exhibit Sent To Paris

Canada Is Justly Proud Of Indian Children's Art Work

Canada has reason for pride in the craft work of her Indian children—exhibit of which has been sent to the League of Red Cross Societies in Paris, France, for loan to national Red Cross organizations in countries which have expressed interest in it.

It is the first all-Indian exhibit to be sent out of Canada by the Red Cross, although samples of children's work included with other consignments have attracted considerable interest abroad, especially in Great Britain. The work is that of the Junior Red Cross in residential Indian schools of Canada—young artisans ranging in age from 8 to 16 years.

The exhibit includes some of the religious art work of Inkameep Indian Day School, Oliver, B.C., which has already "made the news" abroad. One of the boys from this school, Francis Batiste, won a bronze medal and second-class honors at the exhibition of the Royal Drawing Society in London, a year ago, for pictures painted on buckskin. He is now taking a special course which is given in Indian art at Santa Fe, New Mexico. Other pieces in the exhibit feature the splendid carving and basketry work of St. Paul's Indian Residential School, North Vancouver, some of the finest raffia work produced in Canada from the Alberni Indian School on Vancouver Island and exquisite art work from St. Mary's School at Cardston, Alta.

As Christians, Indian children interpret religious themes according to familiar, every-day life. In their drawings of the Nativity, the Mother of God, St. Joseph and the Wise Men are Indians, and the Christ Child is in the traditional Indian cradle suspended from a tree. The Star of Bethlehem, usually shown in an Eastern setting, shines forth in all its brilliance over a tepee.

Remarkable action and life are revealed in the models of fretwork done in soft, light wood and portraying rearing horses, reindeer and other animals, not forgetting the conventional fish.

After Intensive Study

Doctors Find Fixed Type Of Insanity Not Inheritable

New evidence that insanity is not inheritable was announced before the American Psychiatric Association. Until recently it was believed that the children of families which have a history of insanity are likely to acquire one of the various mental diseases. Dr. Horatio Pollock and Dr. Benjamin Malzberg of the New York State Department of Mental Health, said. However, an intensive study of 300 students at state asylums, and of their parents, brothers and sisters, and other relatives, failed to show any pattern of inheritance such as the patterns which hold true for physical characteristics.

Startles Whole Ship

Princess Margaret Rose Figured In Amusing Incident On River Steamer

An amusing incident occurred during the recent trip made by Queen Mary and Princesses Elizabeth and Margaret Rose down the River Thames, in the steamer the St. Katharine.

Margaret Rose got up on the captain's bridge of the St. Katharine and used her eyes and her wits, reports C. H. J. Snider in the Toronto Telegram. She knew that that little clock-like thing was a microphone. The captain used it to broadcast orders to his crew, but Margaret Rose didn't know that. She looked quickly at Queen Mary seated serenely by the bridge bulkhead enjoying the view of the great river, and she looked quickly at the Captain in the opposite bridge wing. Stepping to the microphone and standing on tip toes, she suddenly startled Father Thames and the whole ship with the broadcast "Are you enjoying it, Grandma? Isn't it lovely? We are soon going to have some tea now."

The childish voice was many times magnified. Margaret Rose used all her vigorous lung power. They had tea then.

Mosquito Lotion

Scientists Prove That Insects Not Repelled By Odorous Formulae

A lotion which repels mosquitoes, black flies and other insects and yet which actually has a pleasant odour is the latest result of collaboration between University scientists and an industrial company. The work on the part of the research specialists wasn't any too pleasant. They spent many hours in mosquito-infested swamps, trying many varieties of existing insect repellents and many new formulae. They finally discovered that, in every case, it wasn't the smell which kept mosquitoes and black flies from biting. They at length created a new formula and when they used it on their arms and face, it caused insects to stay away on every occasion.

To this formula, a pleasant perfume was added. Further tests proved the new lotion to be absolutely harmless for even the tender skin of babies. So it seems that this summer Canadians can successfully fight off all biting insects without having to use a lotion with a strong, unpleasant odour, and without fear of harming the tenderest skin.

Foundation Stone Laid

Belgrade Has Been Planning Large Church For 80 Years

The foundation stone of what will be the largest church in the Balkans after St. Sophia in Istanbul and the largest single edifice in Yugoslavia has been laid in Belgrade. It will cost between 250,000,000 and 300,000,000 dinars and funds have been collected for it during the last 80 years. (The dinar was quoted in New York at 2.35 cents). The church will be dedicated to St. Sava, patron saint of Serbia, who lived in the thirteenth century and whose episcopate marked the beginning of the new period of Serbian history.

Health

LEAGUE of CANADA

presents

TOPICS of VITAL INTEREST

by DR. J. W. S. McCULLOUGH

PLANNING FOR HEALTH

Public concern for public health makes the leading editorial in the current issue of "Health" of timely interest. The editor of the official publication of the Health League of Canada says:

"The suggestion made in the House of Commons recently by the Honourable C. G. Power, Minister of Pensions and National Health, that a national conference should be called to discuss ways and means of developing a Dominion-wide health programme will meet with general approval. Such a conference was called in Washington last July and at that time the details of a health programme for the United States were approved.

"If a similar conference is to be called in Canada considerable preliminary work will be necessary before it will be possible to approach the national health problems intelligently. This implies the carrying out of preliminary studies by various groups. It is suggested that all interested bodies, official and voluntary, should consider the possibilities of such a conference and be prepared to submit facts as to the need for action in particular fields.

"The weakness of inter-provincial conferences of health such as have been held in the past has been failure to undertake preliminary planning essential to the development of a sound programme. It has been notorious that proposals brought forward have not been studied. The result has been a variety of requests from different provinces, none of which could be carried out in the absence of unanimity.

"Nor is unanimity alone sufficient. It requires time to study and elaborate a plan which is sound and unanimous and there are many health problems in Canada which require attention. Specific problems such as venereal disease and tuberculosis need specific action but in addition the general health machinery is far from perfect and in the provision of full-time health service throughout Canada rests the solution of many disease problems. Health Insurance is undoubtedly a question in which the need for Dominion and Provincial co-operation is obvious. Everything considered a national health conference will open up great possibilities for improving general health and lowering death rates throughout the Dominion. But the suggested conference will only be successful insofar as the spadework which precedes successful conference is well done."

A New Invention

Makes Living Tissues Visible Under The Microscope

A new invention which makes living tissues and their functions visible under the microscope was demonstrated during the closing session of the American Medical Association.

The device introduces cold light deep into parts of animals and enables medical scientists to study them as they function normally. The inventor, Dr. Malvin H. Knisely, of the University of Chicago, spent seven years developing it.

The new combination of cold light and a microscope reveals the effects of such drugs as insulin, morphine, aspirin and other substances as they affect body cells.

Its use in human beings is still to be determined but it may prove useful in the diagnosis of disease. Dr. Knisely said.

Gunnar comforted Sarah Lynn in the difficult days which followed. "Do not listen to the wailing," he admonished her.

"But they say I killed her, Gunnar."

"And I say you gave to her life again. Not choking in blankets but boldly in the sky, as she would wish, that small grandmother. Age closed her in like a trap, you opened the door."

"Oh, I know! But, I keep dreaming of her, huddled down in her seat, swinging over the belt—"

"That is folly. Think of her looking down with pleasure."

"Yes. Only I did so want her at my wedding. It isn't going to be a very nice wedding, Gunnar."

He shrugged. "What matter? It is a wedding. That is enough. Then we go!"

They were walking back to her house from an evening with Lynn Dana.

"Gunnar, I promise, I'll stop grieving about Great-granny."

"That is well. Death in age, in sickness, in helplessness is good. All such should be put away."

She came out of her mood of exaltation with a cry of protest. "Oh, Gunnar, no! That's horrible!"

"Man," he persisted, "must learn from Nature. To let survive, how do you say it?"

"The survival of the fittest, but who can say, who can judge and decide who is the fittest? Don't you see what a frightful danger it would be? How wicked people could bribe and corrupt—And some of the finest minds and spirits are in frail bodies. Do you want a world full of prize-fighters? Think," she said hotly, "think of my Uncle Lynn!"

He shrugged. "You speak now of the exception. That would be bad. But in the end, after five hundred years, would not the race be greatly improved?"

Sarah Lynn wasn't interested in the state of the race five hundred years ahead. She was disturbed. Gunnar had aired those ideas before, but never so vehemently.

She had to put herself to sleep that night resolutely, remembering the thrilling beauty of the lane against the moon.

But she kept her promise to stop mourning over the death of the ancestress. All her loyal cohorts help-

Fiery, Itching Toes and Feet

Here is a clean, stainless antiseptic oil now dispensed by chemists at trifling cost, that will do more to help you get rid of your trouble than anything you've ever used.

Its action is so powerfully penetrating that the itching is instantly stopped, and in a short time you are rid of that bothersome, fiery excruciating. The same is true of Barber's Itch, Salt Rheum, Itching Toes and Feet, other irritating unsightly skin troubles.

You can obtain Moore's Emerald Oil in the original bottles at any modern drug store. It is safe to use and failure in any of the ailments noted above is rare indeed.

ed, and a long, understanding cable from Sally Ann, and most of all, the man in the wheeled-chair.

"Let's put a period to it, Sarah Lynn," he said. "You were privileged to pay back in an hour what you had owed her all your life. She gave you your freedom; you gave her hers."

So peace came back to Sarah Lynn for her last days in Danavale. She said to her father, "Dad, I'm to be married in Great-granny's parlor Monday morning at nine, and then we're flying east. I wanted you to know. I'm telling Bill, too."

Ed Dana put a hand on her shoulder. "You wanted me to know? Well, don't you want me to come to your wedding?"

"Dad, dear?"

"We'll be there, all your brothers and I, and old Penny, of course. I—I doubt if your mother—"

"I know."

"Your mother is pretty set in her ideas, for all she's so gentle. This thing, about Duncan, I mean, goes pretty deep. But I want you to know the rest of us—the boys and I—are satisfied, Sarah Lynn."

She couldn't speak. It was a comfort to have him go on talking.

"We're pretty proud of you, Sarah Lynn, and we like Gunnar. It's fine what the old lady has done for you, just now, when things are pretty lean with me. Of course, we always knew she would remember you substantially, and it wasn't any surprise to find she's left everything to you and Sally Ann. Well, that'll make it nice for the boy. He'll be free to keep right on with the things he's interested in. I'd hate to think of his having to keep his nose to the grindstone," he said. He gave her a hard hug and got quickly into his car.

Sarah Lynn went for a last walk with Miss Pennington, out to their meadow. She dreaded it a little, but the old governess was briskly commonplace. "I wonder at you, really I do," she said severely, "marrying without a new stitch to your name! It would have given me pleasure to mark your things. I cannot help but feel this haste is unseemly."

Sarah Lynn drove herself out to the airport to say good-by to her plane and her friends, young Bill's adoring presence beside her.

"Gee, Sis, some people have all the luck!" he moaned. "Gosh, I wish I was going with you and Gunnar!"

"Bill, this is a secret, cross your heart? Well, you get through high school, and I'll send for you to come over to Norway and learn to fly."

"Gee!" he gasped. "Golly! Hot ziggy! No foolin'!"

No fooling, she pledged him, her heart warm. She did have all the luck, all the love. She felt a great uprush of happy gratitude, an ardent longing to give something away, to do something for somebody.

The Ladybug was to furl her wings for the present. They expected to send for her, after a while. Vance Le Roy was to keep her as the apple of his eye, old Pete on guard as well.

A group gathered about her. Vance Le Roy, old Pete, the mechanics, a few fliers and students to tell her good-by, to wish her happy landings.

Kitty Medill was standing alone by her shabby ship. Kit, poor Kit, she remembered, had been grounded three months discipline and had just been permitted to fly again. Sarah Lynn waved and Kit answered sullenly.

"Boy!" gasped a student flier. "Are they going to hop the ocean the two of 'em?"

"They're not doing any broadcasting," Vance Le Roy growled.

Sarah Lynn walked over to the stunt woman. "Hello, Kitty! I'm so glad to see you! Cool, dark, slim, immaculate, offering her hand."

The hand Kit gave in return was smeared with grease and had a look of chronic as well as temporary soil, but the nails were a gleaming pink. "Well, I'm glad somebody's glad. I'm pretty darn' sick of being in the dog-house. What do they want me to do? Fly this old crate like I was pushing a baby buggy round the park? And now I can have my blue dishes again if I promise to be a good little girl and play gently! The heels! Look at those guys over there now, watching us! You'd think I was Poison Ivy. Don't want their angel child to catch anything off me! Everybody high hating me and—"

"Oh, not everyone, Kitty! I'm glad to see you. I'm glad I can say good-by to you. I—we're flying east—"

"Yeah. Big Swede in a fireman's hat."

Sarah Lynn laughed. "He doesn't wear it any more, Kit, and it's Norway, not—"

"All right, all right; let it go at that. But for all your soft line you wouldn't hop with me on a bet, would you? Sure you wouldn't." There was authentic bitterness in the high voice.

"Everybody's high-hating me and—"

"Why, yes, I would, Kitty!" Sarah Lynn said, her voice warm. "I must be home in a little while, but I'd love to go up for a spin with you. I've never flown with you have I? But I've seen your stunts in pictures and I think you're wonderful! Bill," she called to her hovering brother, "you wait for me. I'll be down in a jiffy."

"Well, let's make it fast then," the stunt flier said.

She taxied down the field and took off smartly. Sarah Lynn thought the inside of the ship looked a good deal like its pilot, shabby, hectic, not quite clean. "Kitty, is your husband—" she began, conscientiously chatty.

"Husband? Listen: all men are dogs." She was circling the field. She looked down. "I bet this burns 'em up—that bunch down there, you flying with Poison Ivy." She began a sudden and reckless climb.

"No, Kit! Why should it?" But Sarah Lynn had an uneasy conviction that Gunnar and Conrad Jordan would sternly disapprove. She knew their feeling about the Kitty Medill type of flier. Why had she come?

"They say I've lost my nerve. Say I'm all washed up. Well, I'm not. I'm just as good as I ever was. I'll show 'em." The small face seemed wholly composed of sulky mouth and stubborn jaw. "I'll show 'em right now. Hang on, kid! We're going to the circus!"

She allowed her plane to stall in level flight, held her joy stick back and her rudder on and went into a violent tailspin.

Sarah Lynn's heart turned over and over. She clutched and clung, thanking her stars that Gunnar was not watching. Could the mad-cap recover? What were the men thinking down on the field, her friends?

Kit closed her throttle, pulled back on her stick, regained her flying speed, straightened out smoothly; a brilliant performance. She grinned at her passenger. "All washed up, am I?"

"Of course not! You're marvellous! That was a gorgeous thrill, Kit, but I believe we'd better go down, now."

Free Democracies

Have The Highest Standard Of Living In The World To-day

A defence of "bad government" was offered by Transport Minister Howe in telling Dalhousie University Alumni Association the free democracies had "the highest standard of living in the world to-day."

"I am sure no one here doubts that we have bad government if they are readers of the daily press," said the Minister, a former member of Dalhousie faculty. "But in defence of 'bad government' I can say none of the democracies are disposed to go to war to inflict their bad government on the other peoples of the world."

"Under bad government" we can have free speech, a free press and a free pulpit. These are things that are necessary in democracies, but not possible under totalitarian governments."

"Admitting for the moment our government is 'bad,' we are very fortunate to be living under that government."

Time On The Moon

Revolution Around Sun Slow Making Long Days And Nights

The long nights and days on the moon result from the fact that, as the moon travels around the sun, it turns very slowly on its axis. Thus, one side of it is exposed to the rays of the sun for a great length of time.

Because of the earth's daily journey in its orbit around the sun, it must spin on its axis a little more than one complete revolution before the same place arrives again beneath the vertical rays of the sun. Thus during one year, one extra revolution is made.

Work is done well only when done with a will.

Vast Historic Importance

French Writer Refers To Visit Of Their Majesties To North America

The journey of King George and Queen Elizabeth to North America is an event of vast historic importance emphasizing the greatness of colonial empires, Gabriel Hanotaux, historian and member of the French Academy, said in an article in Le Journal, Paris.

"This exceptional visit in the present circumstances will define in the eyes of universal opinion the meaning and scope of that expression which has suddenly taken on vast significance—colonial empire."

Canada was of particular interest to France, because much of it once belonged to France and still had a large French-speaking population.

After paying tribute to such explorers as Samuel de Champlain, Pere Marquette, Jacques Cartier, Sir Walter Raleigh and William Penn, Hanotaux said "North America is the daughter of two great European nations—Great Britain and France."

"These Canadian lands are endowed by nature with vast riches in the form of gold mines, precious metals, boundless forests, fur-bearing animals, arable lands all offering limitless horizons for profitable human labor."

"Such is the future of this Dominion, and this is the offering which will be handed to the youthful sovereign whose reign opens under the auspices of such a beautiful gift."

Colonization Plans

A perusal of a report recently received from Great Britain leaves one with the impression that drought-ridden prairie farmers who have been seeking a safe anchorage elsewhere have been overlooking a good bet when they passed up Central British Columbia, for we learn from this document that "Our personal impression was that there was no reason why any small farmer on suitable soil and with the will to work should not save anything from $500 to $2,500 a year after feeding his family and buying such household necessities as he cannot produce."

The report is not talking about the happy condition of Central British Columbia farmers in the halcyon days of yore, but makes it clear that reference is made to possibilities under present day conditions for it adds: "They were all mixed farmers and we were further impressed with the fact that in general they had not felt even the worst of the depression to anything like the extent of other farmers, such as the wheat producers of the west."

The report is that of the British Mission of Brigadier General Sir Henry Page Croft and R. S. Daigle to Western Canada last summer to investigate the possibilities of community settlement for British immigrants in British Columbia which was presented to the Prime Minister and the cabinet of Great Britain in the fall.

Apart from the fact that the Mission appears to have unearthed a section of Western Canada where it is apparently still possible to farm on small scale at a profit under present conditions, the report is of considerable interest in the prairie provinces, since it was originally the intention to establish colonies of British settlers, under an identical British state-aided scheme, in the wheat growing provinces under what was known as the General Hornby plan, to which considerable publicity was given last year.

The report leaves the impression that whatever plans may have been formulated for British settlement on colonization basis in the prairie provinces have been abandoned for the time being and attention is being concentrated on colonization in British Columbia where to some extent at least, conditions are dissimilar, and where the government has promised to make a grant of free land for the use of the prospective colony. Probably the clue to the abandonment of an immediate colonization project in the prairie provinces may be found in the reference already quoted, to the hardships experienced by what growers on the prairies in recent years.

Population Needed

Whether the proposals to settle British colonies on community basis in the prairie provinces will be revived once the machinery has been set in motion to transfer colonies to Central British Columbia is apparently not known here at the moment, but it is quite probable that something more will be heard of it in the near future.

There can be no quarrel with the general statement in the report that Western Canada needs greater population to help carry the burden of the overhead which has been created in providing such a large territory with facilities, nor with the statement that every settler on the land provides a means of livelihood for at least one other in the cities, towns and villages, but conditions must be such that the settler on the land is able to operate at a margin of profit.

This condition cannot be said to have been achieved as long as the staple product on the prairies has to be subsidized or a large number of the producers assisted via the direct relief route, and more particularly is this the case if the subsidy is not sufficient to ensure a margin of profit. Until this situation is cleared up Western farmers as a body are undoubtedly opposed to immigration on colonization scale, even under a two-year guarantee and it is quite conceivable that the east would have some objections to offer.

British Stock Needed

Nor can there be any quarrel with the oft-heard statement that whatever immigration to this country is permitted whether on colonization scale or otherwise, it is highly desirable that a substantial percentage of the newcomers be of British stock.

And this can be said without impugning the loyalty of other nationals who have sought and been welcomed to the hospitality of this country and the liberty and security it affords, and their offspring. It is, however, essential that there be a strong foundation stock of those who are steeped in the traditions of which freedom and liberty are based to exert a leavening influence on those who have not been so fortunate in the circumstances surrounding their origin.

Certainly this objective should not be lost sight of and should receive every encouragement when conditions permit and opportunities afford.

In the meantime the experiment in Central British Columbia, if it is brought to fruition and it looks like going ahead will be watched with considerable interest in the prairie provinces and doubtless some valuable lessons will be learned from it. Let us hope it will be as great a success as its promoters anticipate.

Must Be Widely Read

Moscow Paper Claims Copies Of Stalin's Books Run Into Millions

The Detroit Free Press says if you are trying to decide who is the most widely read current author, it evidently will be dangerous to leave Joseph Stalin off the list of candidates.

For a Moscow newspaper makes some astonishing claims in his behalf. It asserts that 157,000,000 copies of his books were printed in the period 1932-35 (compared to 48,755,000 volumes of the works of Lenin).

The publication says too that in addition, 13,765,000 copies of Stalin's latest history of the Communist party have been printed in ten languages and that shortly 20,000,000 of his speech of last March before the Communist party will come off the press.

A record like that is enough to make Adolf Hitler turn green, and several other colors, with envy.

Safer Motoring

Checking Motorists Who Do Not Keep Cars In Safe Mechanical Condition

All over Canada this month, highway constables and city police officers are waging war against motorists who do not keep their cars in safe, mechanical condition. The most common carelessness displayed by motorists is with regard to their headlights and tail lights. The driver who travels on highways with one headlight out is considered one of the greatest menaces in motoring. Police everywhere are issuing reports that such carelessness must be stopped in the interests of greater safety.

Don't be a one-eyed driver. Wise motorists who wish to avoid fines should have their brakes tested and headlights checked to-day.

Machine Works Accurately

Operating Like Electric Razor It Removes Skin For Grafting

A new machine for skin grafting human beings to make skin grafting more certain and safe and thus save lives was demonstrated at St. Louis, Mo.

A Kansas City surgeon, Dr. Earl C. Padgett, showed with a paint pot of rubber cement, a curved piece of sheet metal and a vibrating knife, how he could, if necessary, whisk all the skin off a person who had recently died, and transfer it to save the life of another facing death from a severe burn or injury.

In principle his machine is an electric razor which can cut any area of the skin to any desired depth accurately and quickly. If an area to which skin is to be grafted required it, the instrument could provide a patch with scalloped edges.

Heretofore skin grafting required that the surgeon have a flat surface of the body to work on when he removed a piece of skin with the ordinary surgical knife, Dr. Padgett said.

With the mechanical skinner, patches six inches long and four inches wide can be taken off in a few minutes and applied immediately over burned or otherwise damaged areas.

In use the rubber cement is painted on the curved metal drum and also on the area of the skin to be detached. When it dries, one edge of the drum is placed on the skin and it adheres tightly to the area. The drum is then rotated and a knife driven back and forth by an electric motor follows it to separate the skin from the body. The skin is then stripped off the drum and placed on the area where it is needed. The rubber cement can be rubbed off later after the graft has begun.

Should Think Sooner

Some People Have Ready Excuse After Getting Into Trouble

A man convicted at London, Ont., of drunken driving told the magistrate that he might lose his job. He was, nevertheless, sentenced to two weeks in jail and told that the magistrate was more concerned about people in the street whom he might kill or injure than over the possible loss of his position. That is the correct attitude to take. Men who plead for their wives, their families or their jobs after they have got themselves into trouble never think of them beforehand.

Harry Hopkins, United States secretary of commerce, estimated that Europeans have acquired $100,000,000 of United States paper money for hoarding since the beginning of the first Czechoslovakian crisis last fall.

New Use For Honey

Found Effective For Stimulating Roots Of Cuttings

Ordinary honey may be used with good effect in floriculture in the stimulation of roots of cuttings. Preliminary experiments by the Division of Horticulture, Dominion Experimental Farms, proved the utility of honey in this respect, and a thorough test which was concluded in March established the fact that a 25 per cent. solution of honey had a definitely stimulating effect on roots of both cedar and chrysanthemum cuttings and compared very favourably with any of the hormone chemicals used for that purpose.

An animal may have several common names in one locality, but it has only one scientific name throughout the world.

The World of Wheat

By H. G. L. STRANGE
Director "Crop Testing Plan"

The manner by which temporary help is to be given for this year to Western farmers has now been settled by the Dominion Government. The assistance is appreciated and it will do much to tide the West over for another year.

But no bonus or assistance given by the Dominion Government will ever sell abroad one extra bushel of wheat. So now the real and important problem has to be faced; i.e. how to sell our total average annual wheat product for export, which will mean the sale of about 100,000,000 bushels each year more than the world is now purchasing.

There are millions of people in the world today who are sadly in need of these extra 100 000 000 bus. of Canadian wheat, and who are willing in turn to pay for this additional food with their own manufactured goods. But the Canadian and other high tariffs, and other restrictions set up, which now strangle international trade, prevent these healthy exchanges from taking place. Only the removal of these harmful obstructions to international trade will, I believe, solve this problem. This matter I courteously suggest, should be studied earnestly by all Western farmers, and by all those who are the farmers' true friends.

Following factors have tended to raise price: Broomhall revises importers wheat requirements upward to 680 million—Estimates suggest decline in 1939 world wheat acreage—Excessive rainfall lowers bright Italian crop prospects—Some inflation feared in Britain and U.S.A.—Drought affects pear and apple crops in New Zealand.

Following factors have tended to lower price: Very generous rains have occurred in Western Canada—International Institute at Rome estimates world wheat "carry over" on July 1st will be much larger than a year ago—German winter rye prospects continue above average—Some rains have occurred in the United States wheat belt—Decrease in Oriental wheat purchases.

In men's and boys' Sisman scampers and canvas shoes—you get the best values and satisfaction at Scott's

Searle Precipitation Report

The rains which have fallen from April 1, to June 4, inclusive, combined with the precipitation which occurred during the months of August, the moisture condition for the three prairie provinces as a unit, is now 98 per cent of the longtime average of normal, as compared with 96 a week ago and 89 at this time last year.

The similar moisture condition for Alberta is now 94 per cent of normal, as compared with 92 last week, and 98 at this time a year ago.

For Saskatchewan the similar condition is now 103 (106 last week) and 84 this time last year; in Manitoba the condition is 86 (66 last week) and 86 at this time a year ago.

All in all, judging by the rainfall that has occurred, the possibilities are good for a normal or average crop in the three Western Provinces.

Object to Park Fishing License

Protests have been made by the sportsmen of Alberta against the Dominion government imposing licenses for fishing in the National Parks. Formerly, fishing privileges were granted with entrance fee into the parks.

The license is $1.00 for residents and $5.00 for non-residents

On Tuesday it was announced that the license fees would not go into effect until next year.
